

REGULATORY EXAM MANAGEMENT

Industry Challenge

For banks and other financial services firms, undergoing regulatory examinations can be a costly and time-consuming process, especially in today's regulatory environment. Set against a backdrop of accelerating regulatory change, the increasing frequency and broadening scope of exams represent significant risk to the business and a drain on resources for firms that fail to manage the process effectively. Organizations often incur substantial costs associated with managing the internal processes associated with preparing for and undergoing an exam, in addition to costs attributed to fines, penalties and post-exam remediation. This is especially true for firms that lack a defined, efficient methodology for exam management and the tools necessary for effective planning, facilitation and execution.

To reduce the negative impact of exams, banks and other financial services firms must implement a streamlined, repeatable process for participating in examinations and implementing remedial actions.
